FORCEFUL NOTE IS SENT ON MANDATES

Hughes Says Island of Yap Must be Internationalized

Washington—The United States not only holds invalid the disposition, without its consent, of any of the territories ceded by the central empires to the allied and associated powers, but pointedly suggests reconsideration of the action, in defiance of American protest, approving the award to Japan of the mandate for Yap and other North Pacific islands.

This is the burden of the American note to Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan, made public this week by Secretary of State Hughes.

The communication, which bears striking evidence of Hughes' legal acumen, is the strongest presentation yet made of the American charge of bad faith against the allies in arbitrarily disposing of territories in which the United States has an inalienable one-fifth interest.

On November 9, 1920, the United States called the attention of the powers to its understanding that Yap was not to be included in the mandate to Japan, but was to be internationalized as a cable station. Yet in December, 1920, the council of the league of nations, controlled by the allied powers, approved the North Pacific mandate with Yap included.

"It is a cause of regret to this government," says the Hughes note, "that after and despite this protest, there should have been any attempt to pass upon drafts of mandates purporting to deal with the Pacific islands, including Yap, and that a mandate should have been approved, or attempted to be put into effect which while purporting to be made in the name of the United States, was without the assent of the United States. This government trusts that this action, which it must assume was taken under a misapprehension, will be reconsidered."

Hughes' contention that the United States must be accorded a voice in the disposition of the former enemy territories ceded to the allied and associated powers applies not only to the North Pacific, but to Mesopotamia, Palestine and the German colonies in Africa and Australia.

His argument is that the American interest in these territories derives from American participation in the victory over the central powers, that this interest is recognized not only in the Versailles treaty, but in the mandate terms, that President Wilson in the sessions of the supreme council made the reservation that Yap should be internationalized and that the council's allocation of Yap to Japan is not binding on the United States because this nation has not ratified the Versailles treaty under authority of which such allocation was made.

MYSTERIOUS MAIL ROBBERY REPORTED

$22,000 Stolen from Mail Bag en Route to S. F.

San Francisco—Twenty-two thousand dollars in currency and negotiable securities were stolen from the United States mails between Watsonville and San Francisco between March 30 and April 3, it has just been revealed, when former Lieutenant Governor Warren R. Porter, president of the Pajaro Valley Bank, announced that a shipment from his bank to an eastern correspondent had disappeared.

The package, containing $17,000 in currency and $5,000 in negotiable bonds, was sent from Watsonville by registered mail March 30. The loss was not discovered until five days later, when it was learned that the shipment had failed to reach its destination. Postal inspectors are investigating.

Bank employees assert that the package was delivered at the Watsonville postoffice and was turned over by the postoffice to the train messenger. No trace of the pouch since its delivery at the Watsonville station has been found. The train that supposedly carried the pouch with the bank shipment transferred all mail to another train at Santa Cruz.

H. Bridgewater, postmaster of Watsonville, and postal inspectors working on the case refuse to comment on the disappearance of the money.

RULING ON RECLAMATION

Upholds State Tribunals in San Joaquin Case.

Washington—The supreme court has affirmed decrees of California courts upholding assessments made by the San Joaquin Reclamation Board to pay for construction to control river floods.

Property owners appealed on the ground that the board was without legal authority to make such an assessment and that even if the assessment was legal, its levy on an acreage basis, regardless of benefits to be derived, was illegal.

The San Joaquin reclamation assessments case has been in the courts of California for three and one-half years. It involved the right of the state reclamation board to levy assessments on lands within the Sacramento-San Joaquin drainage district.

GERMAN EX-EMPRESS DIES

Ex-Kaiserin Succumbs to Long Illness.

Doorn (Holland)—Former Emperor William and Prince Adalbert were at the bedside of the former Empress Augusta Victoria of Germany who died at 6 o'clock Tuesday morning.

The ex-emperor stood at the bedside with bent head as death came to his consort, and he remained in the room for some time afterward.

Since her attack of heart disease in November last, when it was expected she would die, the former empress had not left her room.

The Hague—Holland refused permission to former Emperor William to accompany the body of ex-Empress Augusta Victoria to the German frontier, the body being sent by special train to Potsdam.

DEATH OF FRANK MATHIEU

S. F. Clubman Is Found Dead in Bath.

San Francisco—Frank Mathieu, Bohemian clubman, San Francisco playwright and widely identified with society activities in the bay cities, was found drowned in a bath tub in Adler's Sanatorium, San Francisco, where he has for five weeks been undergoing treatment for heart trouble. Death was accidental.

Mathieu for the last ten years had staged almost all of the Bohemian Grove plays, an annual club event nationally known. He was best known for his wonderful pastorals.

BRITISH STEAMSHIP LINE

British Steamers May Make Run to Mexico.

Washington—Consul B. F. Yost at Sonora, Mex., has informed the department of commerce, it was reliably reported, that negotiations were progressing between a British steamship company and the Mexican government for establishment of a steamship line from San Francisco and the Pacific ports of Mexico. The plan contemplated placing six 800-ton British steamers, suitable for passenger and cargo trade, under the Mexican flag, he said, to serve the ports of La Paz, Guaymas, Mazatlan, Manzanillo, Acapulco and Salina Cruz.

Plans for the construction of a small power plant upon French creek, a tributary of the north fork of the Feather river, became public recently, when State Commissioner Lee sent to Oroville a notice of filing together with a statement that protests against the appropriation must be made prior to May 1.

As a Modern Filipino Actually Looks

There are hundreds of thousands of this type of young men in the Philippines. They are to be the future rulers of the destinies of the islands.

The Filipino has been much misrepresented in the United States. This is largely because the Sunday supplements have made a specialty of portraying the semi-naked non-Christian hill tribes as "typical" Filipinos, which is far from the truth.

The total population of the Philippines is 10,350,640, of which 9,435,272 are Christians and civilized, and have been so for 300 years, possessing a culture and refinement that will compare favorably with that of other countries. The number of non-Christians is 835, 368, and only a small percentage of them are uncivilized. They are fast becoming educated, and will ultimately make good citizens.

Seventy per cent of the inhabitants of the Philippines over ten years of age, according to the last census, are literate. This is a higher percentage of literacy than that of any South American country, higher than that of Spain, and higher than that of any of the New Republics of Europe whose independence is being guaranteed by the Allies.

One picture will be a farm story adapted from James Whitcomb Riley's famous poem, "Little Orphan Annie." The other will be "Chocolate of the Gang," an excellent comedy of real boys, their escapades and a wise understanding Judge Brown, with "Chocolate," a colored boy.

CLUB PROGRAM

Mrs. H. L. Preston, as chairman of the afternoon, read a very comprehensive and interesting paper before the Country Woman's club Monday, relating the "Early History of American Magazines."

The establishment, brief history and early demise of numbers of magazines, with the names of their sponsors and editors, were most interestingly related. Philadelphia, New York and Boston were rival centers, but in all of them many attempts were made before any real "American" magazine was finally securely established. Of these "The North American" was the first to really win recognition abroad.

Among the most successful, popular and creditable publications was "The Knickerbocker," the discontinuance of which caused much regret among its readers.

"The Atlantic Monthly" and the first "Scribner's," now "The Century," were among the present great magazines that date back to the earlier publications.

In illustration of the magazine story, Mrs. C. B. Miracle read "Under a Wine Glass," by Ellen N. La Motte, which appeared in the "Century" and has been included in the volume of the "Best

CIRCLE ENTERTAINED

The Pundita Circle was entertained at the home of Mrs. M. C. Thomas on the Los Gatos road Wednesday afternoon. Rice culture and the trees of California furnished the topics for the afternoon program.

Roll call was responded to by giving rice recipes. Mrs. M. E. Purmort gave an instructive talk on rice culture.

Mrs. Thomas read an excellent paper on trees, giving very interesting facts regarding the native trees of California. Mrs. Hanger read an old English superstition regarding the oak ball or gall. Mrs. Carboni sang "The Monarch Oak," which fitted in perfectly with the paper read by Mrs. Thomas.

After a short business session refreshments prepared from rice were served in a very unique way by Mrs. Purmort and Mrs. Thomas.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Candee April 26th, one day earlier, on account of the Chautauqua.

FATE AND THE WOMAN

Is a husband necessary? Or should a woman choose a job instead?

This is the crucial problem for the girl of today. Gaid Sherman was one of these. She earned a big salary.

The story of her decision is heart-shaking. It bares the hopes and conflicts of a woman's heart. It answers your questions. Read "Fate and the Woman," the story of a charming California girl, by Elenore Meherin, author of "Ann and Phil." It starts in the San Francisco Call April 21.

PROTECT THE TRAVELING PUBLIC

Commenting on the campaign started by District Attorney Frederick Swart, of San Mateo county, California, to regulate auto stages and force them to obey the traffic laws, the Salinas (Cal.) Index, in an editorial states that the movement will receive full support from the people at large:

"The railroad companies of the United States," says the Index, "are required by law to place at least five highly-trained employees on every train they run. These men are required to pass examinations periodically, and to demonstrate their fitness for their positions every hour of the day. One falls down and some one else gets his job."

"The stage companies, on the other hand, will pick up any untried youngster with a chauffeur's license, who knows enough to shift the levers on a big bus, and send him out as engineer, fireman, conductor, brakeman and flagman, with a dozen or more lives in his keeping, and trust to luck and All-Wise Providence that he gets to the end of his run without killing some one."

Continuing, the Index states:

"In all this hullabaloo about the railroads making so much money, and tyrannizing over the people, is it not well to remember that the standards required for either branch of the country's transportation systems are vastly different. What a howl would go up if railroad trains were permitted to run wild on their own steel rails, to say nothing of monopolizing magnificent highways builded by a tax-ridden people. We can just imagine the petitions to Congress and the Interstate Commerce Commission that would follow a continuous series of late trains, or coaches so packed that passengers must perforce sit upon each others laps, or in the windows. Can't you?"

"Mr. Swart plans to see that the traffic rules of San Mateo county and the State of California are given a strict observance by the auto stage drivers. We hope to see other counties in the State take up a similar line of action, and in time we expect to see a more strict regulation of the auto stages, examinations and higher qualifications for their mechanics and drivers, and rigid adherence to time cards and capacity loading. The owners owe it to themselves as well as to the State that has provided them with the finest roadway ever builded on which to compete with companies that have spent millions laying steel rails, and hundreds of thousands every year to keep those same rails replenished, and properly tamped to secure the maximum service for their patrons."

A State of Mind.

The Bible tells us that "as a man thinketh in his heart, so is he." A western banker says that the present stagnation in our industry and commerce is due almost wholly to a "state of mind," and a writer in Power gives us this:

"I believe that much of the individual unrest is due entirely to mental condition. We have heard so much of this talk, have read so much about it, we are saturated with the idea that everything is wrong in our individual lives. A large share of our trouble is of our own making, and what we all need is to pause a few moments and take stock of ourselves, see where we are, if we have any real grievance, and get busy to try to find the remedy."

Over in Canada there is under way a systematic campaign for the return of "public confidence," simply another term for a change in the public mind.

If we think we are in a bad way, we soon shall be there. If we think we are in a good way, presently the way will be good, because we act naturally as we think, and a bit of collective thinking and acting just now would drive away "dull times" as the sun drives away the morning mist.—The Valve World.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

A pleasant and profitable afternoon was enjoyed by Campbell Union in the home of Mrs. C. H. Whitman on Wednesday, April 13th, when a goodly number gathered to transact business and to listen to a talk by Dr. M. J. Bearby, of San Jose. Mrs. Balwin reported a reading contest on Monday evening, April 18th, to be held in the grammar school auditorium. Music, both vocal and instrumental, has been provided for and contestants from San Jose are expected to aid. A silver offering to be taken. Mrs. Kennedy reported that continued help is needed by the family that the union has been aiding. It was voted to take a collection in ready money and to contribute clothing, shoes and groceries.

The corresponding secretary read a letter from state secretary regarding the million member campaign, urging greater effort along that line.

Dr. Bearby, practicing physician for many years, then spoke earnestly upon the subject of using patent medicines, many of which contain narcotic and alcoholic poisons and are apt to engender a bondage hard to break. She also instructed the Union regarding helpful department literature.

The Union elected a new superintendent of literature with instructions to procure and distribute needed literature for several departments of work.

The spelling contest proved to be a lively diversion, causing much merriment at times, as did the humorous poems read by Dr. Bearby.

The Union will meet with Mrs. Case on April 27th.

The Chautauqua ticket campaigners have made arrangements whereby the church bells will be rung three for the first $100 of seat sale and three strokes repeated for the second $100 and so on, to let the public know the progress of the sale contest.

CHARLES W. TOLES

Charles W. Toles, one of Campbell's highly respected citizens, passed away at his home on Santa Clara road Saturday morning after a brief illness causing heart failure.

Mr. Toles was born at Frankford, N. Y., December 21, 1853. He was manager and buyer for the Rothchild Co. of Chicago for 22 years. He built up a big business for his firm but ill health compelled his retirement in 1914, when with his family he came to Campbell. Since then he has been in the chicken business, which kept him steadily on the job. He made a number of warm friends who mourn his passing and sincerely sympathize with the bereaved ones. He is survived by his wife, two sons and a daughter.

Funeral services were held Monday, Rev. J. J. Pardee officiating, interment being at Santa Clara. The pall bearers were Jas. Turner, L. Carboni, I. P. Beal, A. A. Purmort.

BEAUTIFUL (GAIL

She was beautiful, wealthy, beloved of men. One day she walked out of her father's mansion and took a job in a department store.

How did the world treat her? Your pulse will throb as you learn. Vital, gripping, intense, were the experiences of the "girl alone" in a hostile world. Watch for "Fate and the Woman" in the San Francisco Call, April 21, written by Elenore Meherin, author of "Ann and Phil."

R. G. Foster, in charge of agriculture extension in eleven western states, with offices at Washington, D. C., in company with K. A. Ryerson of the U. C., spent part of Tuesday here reviewing the work of C. E. York in this county. Mr. Foster was very much pleased with the work and made a very complimentary report of Mr. York's instruction. Parts of his report will probably be published in government publications.

LUCK

Is there such a thing as luck? Some people say there is; others that there is not. It suits our humor at this moment, for the purposes of this argument, to take the position that there is luck, both good and bad.

We cannot move a step, backward or forward without a chance of stumbling over something, if it's only our own feet, and falling and hurting ourselves. We cannot take a drink of water or a bite of food, save at the risk of being poisoned. Yet we are alive, you and I. We have neither broken our necks nor died of ptomaine. We seem to have had good luck.

We have good luck in little things, as a rule, because we exercise reasonable care. We avoid getting our own feet into a tangle, and we keep spaces meant to walk in clear. We demand that drinking water be wholesome, and we buy eatables with pure food labels on them. In little everyday things, if we are prudent, we rob old man Hard Luck of his opportunities, because we insist on having most of the chances on our side.

It is not difficult to connect this idea with banking service. Here for instance, is this Safe Deposit Box. Your valuable papers, and perhaps a few keepsakes that no money could replace, are in it—all under protection of concrete and steel, fire proof and burglar proof. So far as these valuables are concerned, you have made good luck a certainty, lined up all the chances for you—that is, if you have a Safe Deposit Box. If not, there is one in our vault waiting, in anticipation of your need. You can, as it were, rent a year's good luck for $2. "Safety First."

Nicholas Dunphy was down from San Francisco for Sunday with his parents. His wife passed away suddenly after three days of illness with double pneumonia. The sincere sympathy of his many friends here is extended Nicholas in his sorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Ridge, son Harold, and daughters June and Francis, motored from Merced for a visit with their old friends, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Purmort, Sunday. Both families are from Anoka, Minnesota, and as a treat Mrs. Purmort served real Minnesota blueberry pie.

J. A. Moore of Kansas City, Mo., has accepted a position with E. E. Sower in his shoe shop. Mr. Moore will have charge of the repairing department and Mr. Sower will attend to the sales end of the business. Mr. Moore is a fine repair man and also an expert re-builder of shoes.

The Band Boys social was another big time success. Although the attendance was not as large as formerly, the boys netted about $21 for their maintenance fund. This social was in charge of S. N. Hedegard, Antone Ferro and Anthony Bargas, to whom due credit should be given for its success.

Dr. J. F. Cole and wife and Chas. Roberts and wife of Oldwine, Iowa, are guests of Dr. Cole's cousin, J. S. Fay, this week. The party has been spending the winter at Long Beach and are now on their way home. Doctor says he came up here to see some real Californians, down south they're all from Iowa.

DECLAMATORY CONTEST

Campbell high school students held their second annual Shaksperian declamatory elimination contest, Mesdames C. H. Whitman, W. H. Stray and G. L. Parso acting as judges.

Those taking part were Katherine Wood, Rose Davidson, Katherine Farwell, Gladys and Dorothy Merriman, Lucile Alison, Elizabeth Turner, Irene Van Dorsten, Edward Day, Louis Shelley, Harold Ouimet.

There was a marked improvement over last year in the manner of each delivery.

Aside from the interpretation of the character the decision was based on the sincerity, straightforwardness, genuine feeling and emotional content and freedom from the mannerisms usually characterized as theatric and elocutionary.

After considerable deliberation on the part of the judges first places were given Lucile Alison and Harold Ouimet, with Katherine Wood and Edward Day close seconds. Lucile recited Helena's speech, Act 3, Scene 2, of "Midsummer Night's Dream" and Harold the king's call to his men from "Henry V" Act 3, Scene 1.

These two will go to Berkeley April 23rd for the final contest with other students.

The High School P. T. A. held its election of officers Tuesday for the coming year with the following results:

Mrs. W. H. Stray, president
Mr. D. H. Cramer, 1st vice-pres.
Mrs. Mabel Henry, 2nd vice-pres.
Mrs. Louis Shelley, secretary
Miss Claribel Boesch, treasurer
